

APRIL 14, 2009

10:00 am to 11:00 am PST

Rev up your geospatial work products

GIS and Creativity: A Webinar

Your host: Gretchen Peterson Author of GIS Cartography: A Guide to Effective Map Design

Create more appealing maps, GUIs, analyses, and applications by discovering your creative potential. Does everyone have the ability to be creative? What simple tools can you use to give your right-brain a workout? Best practices for data graphics presentation. Current trends in GIS. Resources for further study.

With guest speaker Stephen Few author of Information Dashboard Design

"It was a break from my normal work routine and therefore, in itself, got my creative juices flowing." Rick Hollatz, GIS Coordinator

"You brought together a nice collection of ideas from a variety of creative minds." Walker Willingham, Earth Walker GIS

"Well done . . . You really have a good grasp of the subject." David A. Howes, Geospatial Information Scientist

To sign up, visit: www.petersongis.com/webinars.aspx

Sign up now for the early registration price of $45.00 USD.
($50.00 after March 31, 2009)

